

Federal Way HOV Access/S. 317th

The Federal Way HOV access ramp is now open to buses, carpools and vanpools. The "T" ramp allows direct access to the new transit center and helps improve transit speed and schedule reliability by avoiding the congested S. 320th and I-5 interchange.

Sound Transit, King County Metro Transit and Pierce Transit buses provide service to the transit center. The project also built a roundabout at South 317th and 28th Avenue South that helps manage traffic at this busy intersection and keeps it moving safely.

Mode

Bus

Highlights

Construction completed: February 2006

Location: I-5 at S. 317th Street in Federal Way

Budget: $32.6 million

Planning partners: Sound Transit, King County Metro Transit, Pierce Transit, WA State Department of Transportation (WSDOT), US Department of Transportation, City of Federal Way

Consultants & contractors

Preliminary engineering and environmental documentation: Sverdrup Civil Inc. and WSDOT

Final design: WSDOT

Construction: Icon Materials Inc.

Construction management: WSDOT

Public art

The "Hi Five" sculpture by Miles Pepper greets commuters as they enter and exit I-5 at 317th Street

